recording player.Com Hosted @ Siteground.com

Users have no access to mac mini and no way to back trace where recordings are coming from github.com/lsfarm/streamserver repo for this project

This is the html page that lives on the local mac mini. Button to start and stop the recording. A timer that shows how long the current recording is. A file system showing past recordings with option to rename recordings and upload recordings. Then checkmark boxes beside each recording The recording that is checkmarked will be the recording that plays on recording player.com

A way to end the recording and add it to the list

XAMPP currently running on mac mini for some other basic stuff But there's probably a better method
